

Management

---

Hal Wilson

Co-Founder and President

Hal is a seasoned technology executive and co-founder of CyberImaging. As president, Hal is responsible for overseeing the company's internal operations, focusing on the development and delivery of new products and services that ensure both customer satisfaction and operating efficiency. Prior to joining CyberImaging, Hal held executive management positions in finance with Exide Electronics and NetEdge Systems. Hal is also CPA and CMA certified.

James Welch

Co-Founder and Chief Technology Officer

Jim has extensive experience in engineering and software development and is a co-founder of CyberImaging. In his role as chief technology officer, Jim leverages his experience in existing and emerging technologies to direct CyberImaging's technology and solution engineering efforts. His Ph.D. studies at Duke University included an emphasis in Artificial Intelligence applications. Jim pioneered a number of proprietary imaging techniques including a re-coloring algorithm based on a 3D ellipsoid model.

Feng Lu, Ph.D.

Vice President of Product Management

Feng is responsible for leading CyberImaging's near-term and long-term imaging strategy, ensuring that the product vision, roadmap, solutions' specifications and design evolve with the industry and the needs of customers worldwide. Feng is a renowned expert in digital imaging and graphics. At the University of Toronto, his research focused on Computer Vision, Robotics, Image Analysis and Computer Graphics. His list of publications is extensive including "Detecting and Reconstructing Vascular Trees in Retinal Images".

Lisa Wilson

Vice President of Marketing

Lisa brings more than 20 years of international experience to her role as vice president of marketing at CyberImaging. She is responsible for developing and implementing strategic programs that drive revenue and support corporate goals. Before joining CyberImaging, Lisa held executive management positions of increasing responsibility with Hyperion

Solutions, a period where sales grew from less than $1 million to more than $400 million.

Jim Barnette

Vice President of Sales

Jim brings over 30 years of leadership and motivational experience to the organization. Most recently he served as Vice President of Sales at Eyeweb, Inc. Prior to Eyeweb Jim spent 23 years with CIBA Vision Corp. where he held numerous leadership roles both in Canada and the United States. Prior to CIBA Vision, Jim was National Sales Manager for American Optical Canada for contact lenses and ophthalmic instruments.

Stéphane Carbou

Director, International Sales and Service

Stéphane is responsible for international sales and service. Based in Paris, he is responsible for developing and implementing strategic programs that drive revenue and support corporate goals. Most recently he served as Sales and Marketing Manager for Eyeweb, Inc. Before joining Eyeweb, Stéphane was a project manager with Essilor.